BRIERTY APPOINTS CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

Diversified contractor Brierty Limited (ASX: BYL) is pleased to announce Jarrod Seymour has been appointed as Chief Operating Officer reporting to the Chief Executive Officer Ray Bushnell.

Mr Seymour has more than 20 years' experience in the mining sector, both in Australia and overseas, with expertise in the contract services areas across a wide range of commodities. Mr Seymour was most recently COO at Mineral Resources for almost four years, where he had operational responsibility for all of the company's divisions including mining, crushing, mineral processing, engineering, and construction. Prior to this he held senior executive positions at CIMIC's mining services business Thiess, including in Australia and Indonesia.

Brierty Chief Executive Officer Ray Bushnell said Mr Seymour's appointment to the newly created role aligned with a number of new opportunities that Brierty was targeting.

"Jarrod's extensive expertise will play a key role in further strengthening our ability to win new contracts that Brierty is targeting and delivering on those jobs," Mr Bushnell said.

"The outlook for contract mining, particularly in the gold mining sector, is encouraging with a number of opportunities currently being pursued in Western Australia, South Australia and Queensland.

"In addition, Brierty has had success in winning scope expansions at existing mining services projects, such as tailings dam construction, and is actively tendering for further work in this space."
